OBJECTS.

To assist in the establishment and maintenance of Evangelical Sunday Schools at home and abroad.

To increase the efficiency of existing Schools by stimulating Teachers to greater exertions, providing them with suitable works for perusal, and establishing Local Examinations throughout the country on Scripture History, the Evidences of Christianity, and the Principles and Art of Teaching.

To supply Books and Stationery to Sunday Schools at reduced prices.

To assist in the erection of Class Rooms by grants of money, and in the maintenance of Sunday Schools in School Board premises by contributions towards the annual rent.

To make grants of suitable Library Books to Sunday Schools at one-half, and in some cases one-third, the retail prices.

A Reading Room and Library are maintained, to which Sunday School Teachers and Elder Scholars have access at the nominal charge of One Shilling per annum.

A very large work is carried on on the Continent of Europe, where several hundreds of Sunday Schools have been established and assisted, twelve Missionaries being wholly or partially maintained by the Society.

To carry on the foregoing and various other operations for the benefit of Sunday Schools a large annual amount is required; and funds are urgently needed.

LIFE SUBSCRIBERS of £10 10s. or upwards and ANNUAL SUBSCRIBERS are entitled to purchase the publications of the Union at a reduction of 25 per cent.

Cheques and Post-office Orders to be made payable to Mr. AUGUSTUS BENHAM, Financial Secretary, and crossed "Union Bank of London."

ADVANTAGES OBTAINED BY THOSE WHO ASSURE WITH The Queen.

See Table No. VII. of the Queen Almanac & Prospectus.

This Table provides for Assurances payable at death, and is adapted to the circumstances of those who may be desirous of paying their Premiums within a certain limited time, instead of having to continue to pay during the whole term of life when it might become inconvenient.

Policies effected under this Table do not become void should the Assurer fail to complete the number of payments agreed upon, but remain in full force for a sum bearing the same proportion of the original amount assured as the number of premiums paid bears to the number stipulated for.

The following will serve to illustrate the advantage of assuring by this mode:

A person aged 30 next birthday effects an assurance for £1000, at an Annual Premium of £52 9s. 2d., payable for ten years; at the end of five years, after paying £262 5s. 10d., should he decide to discontinue his payments, the Company would grant him a Paid-up Policy for £500, being half the amount originally assured.

Patron—HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

Vice-Patron—H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

President—

REAR-ADMIRAL H.R.H. DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

The Committee earnestly solicit the SUPPORT of the public on behalf of so interesting a Charity, where seamen of every nation are freely admitted without any recommendation but that which sickness or disease supplies; where they are allowed to remain in a state of convalescence, being clothed and assisted home in cases of destitution, and whence they are discharged not only cured of their bodily ailments, but, as it is hoped, better men, by the religious instruction and regular habits acquired during their stay in the Hospital. In confidence of being relieved, seamen travel from the most distant parts of the kingdom. Upwards of 200,000 seamen, of all nations, have been admitted to treatment since the Dreadnought Hospital was opened in the year 1821.

The Committee have the satisfaction to announce that the Queen is graciously pleased to subscribe 100 guineas annually, thus marking Her Majesty's sense of the value and importance of this universal and cosmopolitan charity.

The qualification of a Governor is an annual subscription of one guinea. Will any one refuse to give so small a sum to so universal a Charity?

Contributions will be gratefully received by the Bankers, Messrs. Williams, Deacon, & Co., 20, Birchin Lane, E.C., and at the Hospital by the Secretary, HENRY C. BURDETT.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

THE House of Lords or Peers (for the terms are used indifferently) is the second of the three bodies which together are said to compose the British legislature—King (or Queen), Lords, and Commons. Its origin, which in fact is that of the British Parliament, is involved in obscurity. The House of Lords must be regarded as the natural development of the state of things existing under the Feudal System, when the King ranked as but “primus inter pares,” the first among his Peers or equals,* namely, the nobles who held their lands of the Crown by the tenure of military service. The very existence of the term “landlord,” as used in the present time, is enough to show that in the earlier days of English history the ideas of territorial possession and nobility were closely connected; and we find, as a matter of fact, that it was the tenure of certain lands which constituted a Noble of the Realm, in the centuries immediately succeeding the Norman Conquest.

The House of Lords, however, is of even older date than this, and has been traced by antiquaries and historians to the very earliest foundations of the British constitution, which were laid in the old Saxon times. It is, in fact, the magnum concilium of the early English chroniclers. It is clear, from the historical records of those centuries, that, under the Saxon Kings, the Thanes or Nobles, together with the Bishops, were the chief advisers of the King, constituting a body not unlike the Privy Council of our own day. To these in succeeding centuries, as the wealth, education, and intelligence of the nation increased, were added the representatives of the counties, cities, and boroughs of England; and it was not until about the reign of Edward I. that the latter body seems to have become a distinct assembly, and to have been termed the House of Commons, or the Lower House of Parliament. Some historians, indeed, as Elsynge, assert that "the Commons ever held a place for their consultation apart from the Lords;" but this statement is distinctly denied by Sir Edward Coke, who states that he had seen a record, dated in the 30th year of King Henry I. (A.D. 1130), of their degrees and seats as one body, and affirms that the separation took place at the desire of the Commons. From that time to this no very material change has taken place in the constitution of the Upper House. Since the House of Peers, in conjunction with the Sovereign and the House of Commons, composes the supreme legislative body of Great Britain, the consent of each of these three bodies is required in order to give to any resolution the force of law. The voice of the majority in either House binds the whole.

In addition, however, to its legislative functions, the House of Lords has a judicial character, in virtue of which it exercises the ultimate jurisdiction in matters of appeal from the supreme courts of Great Britain and Ireland. It also has the privilege of trying criminal cases on impeachment by the House of Commons, and also its own members on indictments found against them by the grand jury. In the discharge of these duties, the House has the power of requiring the attendance of the Judges and the Law Officers of the Crown, to assist its decisions with their legal counsel.

It is right here to notice a few points in which the House of Lords differs from the Lower House of Parliament. The Lord Chancellor for the time being sits in the Upper House as Speaker. When the Sovereign goes to open, prorogue, or dissolve Parliament, he takes his seat upon the royal throne, and the Commons are summoned into his presence, there to receive the communication of his royal will and pleasure. All Bills which in any way affect the dignities of the Peerage must originate in the Upper House. Each member of the House of Lords had formerly the right of voting by proxy upon all measures, except in Committee; but this privilege was abolished, or, at all events, set aside by a standing order of the House in 1868. Peers have also the privilege of entering upon the journals of the House their dissent from any measure which has received the sanction of the majority, together with their reasons for dissenting. This is called their Protest.*

The House of Lords is frequently divided into the Spiritual and Temporal Peers; the latter being again distinguished according to their rank by the titles of Duke, Marquis, Earl, Viscount, and Baron. Of the Spiritual Peers, Archbishops take precedence of all Dukes, except those of the Blood Royal; while Bishops rank next above Barons. The military titles of Duke (Dux), and Marquis (Marchio, March-grave, or Margrave, as the governors of marches or frontier provinces were termed), are derived from the dignities which existed many centuries ago in the Western Empire ; while those of Earl (Eorl or Ealderman) and Baron are of genuine Saxon origin.* The former of these has been identified with the Count† (Comes) of Western Europe. The title of Viscount, which originally signified the Count's deputy, was first made a degree of honour in the reign of Henry VI.

* This Protest, however, must be entered on the Journals of the House within forty-eight hours after the objectionable resolution has been passed.

The Peerage of Great Britain and Ireland admits also of the following classification:—1st, Peers of England; i.e., those whose titles bear date anterior to the union with Scotland in 1707; of whom the Duke of Norfolk, as Earl of Arundel (circ. 1139), is premier. 2nd, Peers of Scotland; i.e., those enjoying the Peerage in that country before its union with England; of whom the Duke of Sutherland, as Earl of Sutherland and Baron Strathnaver (1228), is the premier. 3rd, Peers of Ireland; i.e., created before the Union in the year 1800; of whom the Earl of Howth, as Baron of Howth (1177), is the most ancient. 4th, Peers of Great Britain; i.e., those created between the years 1707 and 1800. 5th,

* It has been observed, as a proof of the overwhelming influence of the Norman invaders upon our old Saxon constitution, that, “though the titles of Duke and Earl may be traced to an age antecedent to the extinction of the Saxon dynasties, yet a long period elapsed after the conquest before any other degrees of nobility than that of Baron and Knight were established in England.” This, however, though generally, was not universally the case; for we read of Earls of Gloucester, Cornwall, Pembroke, Albemarle, Leicester, &c., in the reigns of King John and Henry III. It might be added that the titles of Baron and Knight were common to England and continental nations.

† The Earl, or Count as he was more frequently called after the Norman Conquest, held jurisdiction (something like our Lord-Lieutenants) over a certain territory of larger or smaller extent, which was hence called a County. This term still remains, though the relation between the district and its Count has long ceased. In course of time the old Saxon title of “Earl” prevailed again, and until the last two centuries has generally been derived from some particular locality.

Peers of the United Kingdom; i.e., those created since the union of the three kingdoms. And 6th, those of the Episcopal Bench; now consisting of the two Archbishops and twenty-four English and Welsh Bishops. Previous to the Reformation, the Spiritual Peers consisted of two Priors and twenty-seven Abbots in addition to the Bishops, who at that time considerably outnumbered the Temporal Peers. The Spiritual Peers now consist of all English and Welsh Bishops, with the exception of the two Junior Bishops for the time being.* The Bishops of London and Durham, by virtue of a statute passed 31 Henry VIII., and the Bishop of Winchester, as Prelate of the Order of the Garter, rank before all other Bishops. The Bishop of Sodor and Man ranks last, and has a seat, but no vote, in the Upper House. In the House of Lords, all Peers of England have seats and votes; so have those of Great Britain and the United Kingdom, though the locality from which their title is taken may be either Irish or Scotch.† It also frequently happens that Peers of England or of the United Kingdom hold a superior rank in the Peerages of Scotland or Ireland; in which case, though popularly known by the higher dignity, they still sit and vote in the House by their inferior rank. The Peers of Scotland and Ireland‡ have a place in the House

* This exception, however, does not include the Prelates of London, Durham, and Winchester, who are always members of the House of Peers from the day of their consecration.

† Great care must be taken not to suppose that the locality always determines the Peerage to be English, Irish, or Scotch. Thus, though Teignmouth is in Devon, Lord Teignmouth is an Irish Peer; while, singularly enough, Macduff, Earl of Fife—a name certainly well known in the annals of Scotland—enjoys an English and an Irish Peerage, but not a Scotch one.

‡ Irish Peers may sit in the Lower House for British constituencies; Scotch Peers also may represent a county or borough in England.

only for their representatives, of which Ireland sends twenty-eight and Scotland sixteen. The Scotch Representative Peers are chosen with every new Parliament; the Irish Representative Peers are elected for life. Peers of Scotland and Ireland are no longer created.

By the Judicature Act of 1876, the Queen is empowered to create a certain number of Life Peerages in favour of Judges whose services are required in the House of Lords, sitting as the Supreme Court of Appeal. There are two such Life Peers, both created in 1876, Lord Blackburn and Lord Gordon.

By the Act of Union, no Peer enjoying a British dignity can be elected a Representative Peer for Ireland; but in the case of a Representative Peer being elevated to that of the United Kingdom, no vacancy is caused thereby. Scotch Peers take precedence of British Peers of the same rank created since the union with Scotland; and Irish Peers created before the union with Ireland, in like manner take precedence of British Peers created since. Irish Peers of later creation than the Union, rank according to the dates of the patent, among the Peers of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

It should be observed that the House of Peers, properly speaking, consists only of such members of Peerage as, otherwise having a right to sit in the House, are neither minors nor insane.

A few of the eldest sons of Peers occasionally sit in the House of Lords by a different title from their title of courtesy, being "called" in their father's Baronies.

In the following list of the House of Peers, the date of creation prefixed to each name applies simply to the present title, and not to the period when the family name was first associated with the Peerage.

DREADNOUGHT SEAMEN'S HOSPITAL,

FREE TO SICK SEAMEN OF ALL NATIONS,

GREENWICH, S.E.

(Removed on Shore from the "Dreadnought," 1870.)

Patron—HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

Vice-Patron—H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

President—

REAR-ADMIRAL H.R.H. DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

The Committee earnestly solicit the SUPPORT of the public on behalf of so interesting a Charity, where seamen of every nation are freely admitted without any recommendation but that which sickness or disease supplies, where they are allowed to remain in a state of convalescence, being clothed and assisted home in cases of destitution, and whence they are discharged not only cured of their bodily ailments, but, as it is hoped, better men, by the religious instruction and regular habits acquired during their stay in the Hospital. In confidence of being relieved, seamen travel from the most distant parts of the kingdom. Upwards of 200,000 seamen, of all nations, have been admitted to treatment since the Dreadnought Hospital was opened in the year 1821.

The Committee have the satisfaction to announce that the Queen is graciously pleased to subscribe 100 guineas annually, thus marking Her Majesty's sense of the value and importance of this universal and cosmopolitan charity.

The qualification of a Governor is an annual subscription of one guinea. Will any one refuse to give so small a sum to so universal a Charity?

Contributions will be gratefully received by the Bankers, Messrs. Williams, Deacon, & Co., 20, Birchin Lane, E.C., and at the Hospital by the Secretary, HENRY C. BURDETT.

THE favourable reception which both the Press and the Public have been pleased to give to the "SHILLING PEERAGE," first encouraged the Editor to prepare the "SHILLING BARONETAGE," on a similar plan. He is conscious that even in the twenty-fifth issue of a work like the present, small as it is, many errors and discrepancies must occur; but he can safely say, that against these he has guarded, not only by stores of information carefully sought out from private sources, and accumulated during many years, but by submitting his statements as to the facts and dates connected with the Baronetage to the kind correction of the families most nearly interested in their accuracy. For the readiness with which a very large portion of the Baronets, or members of their families, have answered the points specified in the circulars which have been severally forwarded to them, the Editor cannot be too grateful; and he would be wanting in his duty were he not here to record his thanks for their kindness.

AN ESSAY ON THE BARONETAGE

The following is a list of the names of the baronets who have been created since the year 1700.

THE TITLE NAME, ORDER, RANK, AND DATE OF BARONET THIS THE FIRST PART OF SEVERAL PARTS OF THE HISTORY OF THE BARONETAGE IN THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The word baronet is a name of great antiquity in the United Kingdom, as is shown by our British monetary Rolls even to the reign of Edward I. But the baronetage was not created until the reign of James I. of England. It was first created in the reign of James I. in the year 1611, by James I. who created under his great Seal, instituted the Order of Baronets. It was first created in 1619; and to test the number of baronets, the Scottish branch, there were created by his son and successor, King Charles I. in 1625.

"As never Order, according to the foundation so great so having an absolute as baronets was ever founded upon constitution and regulations now we see the more necessary, more religious. As to the title of this observation, different opinions as to the title, according to the political or religious opinions of the individuals.

The chief end which the Order had in view in creating the Order, was to advance the baronets of the Order and to give and the two branches of the Order, which were considered as the Public Treasury, the order of baronets was created. Thus the sum which the baronets of the Order, and the twelve principal family companies, were created. In consideration of obtaining grants of baronets, which is the extent of 814,344 acres.

The baronets of Scotland were established by a charter of the Colonization of Nova Scotia, which charter was granted of the Scottish Crown. In that Royal Charter, it was granted that was by his Charter entitled to a grant of 10,000 acres of land.

THE Title, Name, Order, Rank, and State of BARONET form the Sixth Degree of Hereditary Dignity or High Nobility in the British Empire.

The word BARONET as a name of high dignity is of great antiquity in the United Kingdom, as is shown by our Parliamentary Rolls even so far back as the reign of Richard II. But the Baronetage was not erected into a distinct order of Hereditary Nobility, until the sceptres of England, Scotland, and Ireland became united under one monarch. King James I. in the year 1611, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal, instituted the Order in England; he extended it to Ireland in 1619; and in 1624 he adopted steps to erect the Scottish branch: these steps were completed by his son and successor, King Charles I., in 1625.

“As never Order,” according to Markhame, “had Founder so great, so happie, so absolute, so neither was ever any grounded upon consultations and considerations more weightie, more necessarie, more religious.” As to the truth of this observation, different opinions will be held, according to the political or religious opinions of the individual.

The chief end which the King had in view in creating the Order, was to advance the Plantation of ULSTER; and for this end the two branches of the Order collectively contributed to the Public Treasury the sum of £250,000, or more than four times the sum which the Corporation of London and the twelve principal Livery Companies raised for that purpose, in consideration of obtaining grants of escheated estates to the extent of 818,344 acres.

The BARONETS OF SCOTLAND were established to promote the Colonization of NOVA SCOTIA, which forms an appanage of the Scottish Crown. In that Royal Province each BARONET was by his Charter entitled to a grant of 16,000 acres of land, the same to be held as a free Barony and Regality, with hereditary seat and voice in the Legislative Diets of the Province, and other great and ample rights, seignorial, political, and commercial.. In 1628 the BARONETS and their associates fitted out a fleet of fourteen sail, laden with everything necessary for founding a Colony on the coast of Nova Scotia, a work which they successfully commenced in that same year at Fort Royal, now called Annapolis. The breaking out of the Civil Wars interrupted a work which King Charles I. considered "to be for the glory of God, and the honour of the Scottish nation, from the benefit that was likely to flow from the right prosecution of it." The BARONETS of Scotland aided this enterprise with contributions to the extent of 450,000 marks—a subsidy of princely magnitude in that day.

In 1612, one year after the erection of the BARONETAGE, its Royal Founder augmented it with the privileges, the pre-eminences, and the ornaments of KNIGHTHOOD, under provisions rendering the same honours hereditary in the families of the Order for ever. His Majesty also conferred upon the BARONETS the high and chivalrous privilege of having place in the Armies of the King, his heirs and successors, near about the Royal Standard for the defence of the same.

By a third and final Royal Decree in 1616, King James I. declared the BARONETS to be "an Hereditary Dignity meane in place between the degree of a Baron being a Lord of Parliament and the degree of a Knight." By virtue of this patent BARONETS rank above all Knights, as such.

The Wives of BARONETS take precedence next to the wives of the younger sons of Peers, and, like Peeresses, they enjoy their dignity as well after as during the lives of their husbands.

The Eldest Sons of BARONETS are KNIGHTS; by the patents erecting the Baronetage, are privileged to demand of the reigning Sovereign inauguration as Knights, on attaining the age of twenty-one years, but the privilege is rarely claimed, and, in fact, is nearly obsolete.

All the Daughters of BARONETS have the rank of their Eldest Brothers, and as such they are LADIES (jure sanguinis), although they do not use the title of Lady. They have rank and precedence above the grand-daughters of Peers.

The younger Sons of BARONETS have place next to the eldest sons of Knights of all degrees, and have precedence over the Esquires and Gentlemen.

The Wives of BARONETS' younger sons have rank above the wives of all whom their husbands precede.

The BARONETAGE contains five distinct classes or creations ; but whilst by the respective Unions the Baronets of the 17th Century have become Baronets, not only of England, Scotland, or Ireland respectively, but also of the United Kingdom, those created in the 18th and 19th Centuries rank next after the Baronets of England, Scotland, and Ireland of prior creation.

The following are the five classes of BARONETS, all of whom (inter se) take precedence according to the date of their creations, viz. :—

1. The Baronets of England, created from 1611 to 1707, of whom Sir H. B. Bacon is Premier.
2. The Baronets of Scotland and Nova Scotia, created from 1625 to 1707, of whom Sir R. G. Gordon is Premier.
3. The Baronets of Ireland, created from 1618 to 1801, of whom Sir C. H. Coote is Premier.
4. The Baronets of Great Britain, created from 1707 to 1801, of whom Sir E. H. Dashwood is Premier.
5. The Baronets of the United Kingdom, of whom Sir H. M. Vavasour is Premier.

AN ESSAY ON KNIGHTHOOD.

ALTHOUGH the term "Knighthood" is of more recent date, the idea which it expresses is coeval with that of Chivalry. The latter, too, was no innovation of the tenth or eleventh centuries, but the fully-developed form and natural result of materials already existing—the manners and feudal relations of our Saxon ancestors, when, as yet, they tenanted the woods and forests of Germany. A description of their customs and habits will be found in the "Germania" of Tacitus; and the reader who has perused that work will not be slow to perceive that it was by an infusion of the spirit of the Christian religion that those manners were gradually and silently moulded into the shape which society assumed during the ages of Chivalry. In those times each feudal superior or lord had a number of vassals whose military service he claimed as his own. The vassal was called miles, chevalier or knight, and his service was styled militare. How an individual was made a knight is thus described in the Penny Cyclopædia, Art. "Chivalry":—

"The young man, the squire, aspiring to knighthood, was first of all stripped of his garments and put into a bath, the symbol of purification. On his coming out of the bath, they clad him in a white tunic, the symbol of purity, a red robe, emblematic of the blood which he was to shed in the cause of the faith, and a black doublet, in token of the dissolution which awaited him as well as all mankind. Thus purified and clothed, the novice kept a rigorous fast for twenty-four hours. When evening came, he entered the church, and passed the night in prayer, sometimes alone, sometimes with a priest and with sponsors who prayed in company with him. The next morning, his first act was confession; after which the priest administered to him the communion; and after communion he heard a mass of the Holy Ghost, and commonly a sermon on the duties of a chevalier, and the new course of life on which he was about to enter. When the sermon was over, the novice advanced towards the altar, with the sword of knighthood suspended from his neck: the priest took it off, blessed it, and attached it to his neck again. The novice then went and knelt before the lord who was to knight him. 'To what end,' the lord then asked him, 'do you desire to enter into this order? If it is that you may be rich, repose yourself, and be honoured without doing honour to knighthood, then you are unworthy of it, and would be to the knighthood you should receive, what the simoniacal clergyman is to the prelacy.' And on the young man's answering that he promised well to discharge the duties of a knight, the lord granted his request.

"Then did knights in attendance, and sometimes ladies, approach the novice, and array him in his novel garb, putting on first the spurs, next the hauberk or coat of mail, then the cuirass or breastplate, then the brassarts or armpieces, and the gauntlets, and lastly girding on the sword. Then he was dubbed, to use the modern English expression derived from the French adoubé, which, according to Ducange, signifies adopted. The lord rose from his seat, went up to him and gave him the accolade, that is, three strokes with the flat of his sword upon the shoulder or the nape of the neck, and sometimes a blow with the palm of his hand upon the cheek, saying, 'In the name of God, Saint Michael, and Saint George, I make thee a knight;' and sometimes adding, 'Be thou brave, bold, and loyal.' The young man being thus knighted, they handed him his helmet, and brought him a horse, upon which he sprang, usually without the aid of the stirrup, and caracoled within the church, brandishing his lance and flourishing his sword. Then quitting the church, he went and exhibited himself in like manner in public, beneath the castle walls, before the populace, whom he found eagerly awaiting their share of the spectacle."

Thus did the Church endeavour to associate religion with the solemn initiation of each champion into a military life; nor was this all; it made use of the chivalric associations which feudalism brought forth towards introducing into society internal peace, and into individual conduct a more strict and comprehensive morality. And, however little suited chivalry and knighthood may be to the habits and manners of the nineteenth century, that institution can scarcely be deemed wholly worthless and indefensible, which, in an age of rough manners and arbitrary dealings, bound every one of its members under the most solemn vows to be the friend and protector of the widow, the fatherless, and the poor.

The right to confer Knighthood was not originally a prerogative of Royalty, nor was the Order a part of the municipal constitution in any state. Knighthood was a military, and in some sense a religious, institution, pervading all Christendom; and the order might be conferred by any man who was himself a Knight, whether of his own, or of a foreign country. Accordingly to this day a foreign Knight is a Knight in England by our law, although a foreign Duke, Marquess, Earl, or Baron, is only an Esquire.

Knighthood has been considered by some writers on dignities to be "the basis and foundation of all honour in our kingdom;" but this is an error. Knighthood is a personal distinction, and it is not peculiar to any degree or estate of men, but may be acquired by service, by merit, by patent, by compact, or by favour. Under the feudal system, Chivalrous Honours were in a great measure limited to crowned heads, many of whom were dubbed Knights by their own subjects—to princes of the blood-royal—to the great dignitaries of the nation—and to persons of quality, noble by blood and arms, who held lands of the Crown in capite by military service, or tenures in chivalry. Such persons, being by birth of equestrian rank, were compellable to receive Knighthood on attaining majority (the age at which they were considered capable to perform Knight's service), because "the degree of Knighthood was not only a dignity and honour to the party, but also a dignity and honour to the kingdom." Hence, although "Militia non est per se dignitas," the privilege which the chief tenants of the Crown possessed of being knighted at majority, gave them collectively the exclusive right to be held and considered as the Chivalry of the Realm. Into this body no one could find admission except such as had a paternal right to demand the same; and so guarded and jealous were the Knights of old of admixture with vile materials, that whilst every Knight could confer Knighthood, it was a received principle in practice that the King alone could advance a person of plebeian origin to chivalrous honours.

The State Orders of Knighthood are generally said to be four in number:—1. Knights Bannerets Royal; 2. Knights Bannerets of the Secondary Creation; 3. Knights of the Bath; 4. Knights Bachelors.

1. KNIGHTS BANNERETS ROYAL (Equites Vexilliferi Majores).—The persons who received this supreme chivalrous dignity were either military tenants of the Crown who led into the field a body of men under their own banners, or nobles who acquired this distinction by great prowess in arms.

It was essential to the right reception of this honour, that those advanced to it should be "dubbed" by the King in person on a stricken field, in open war, under the Royal Standard, and not otherwise.

2. KNIGHTS BANNERETS OF THE SECONDARY CREATION (Equites Vexilliferi Minores).—These were also made on a field of battle, with the same formalities as the former, and differed from them in no respect, except that they were not dubbed by the King in person.

Knights Bannerets, of both descriptions, in the early times of the feudal system, were intermediate between Lords of Parliament and Barons; and after the latter class were relieved from personal attendance in Parliament, Bannerets sat in the Great Council of the nation by special summons from the King, in the same manner as Lords and Earls. Hence they are classified by all our old writers on titles of honour with the Nobiles Majores; and like the greater nobility they wore robes and coronets,* had supporters for their arms, and carried a square banner.

According to the Royal Ordinance of 10th James I. settling the precedence of persons under Peerage dignity, Knights Bannerets made by the King in person have rank above Knights of the Garter, Privy Councillors, Judges and Barons of the degree of the Coife, the younger sons of Viscounts and Barons, and Baronets. Knights Bannerets not made by the King in person have rank next immediate to Baronets.

Since the reign of King William III., who led an army royal into the field in person, no occasion has arisen under which Bannerets Royal could be created in the United Kingdom, and during later reigns only a few individuals have been advanced to the dignity of Bannerets of the Secondary Creation.

3. KNIGHTS OF THE BATH (Equites Balnei).—The third highest class of our ancient State Knighthood were Knights created for the purpose of gracing certain high ceremonials of a pacific nature, such as coronations, royal christenings, inaugurations of the Princes of Wales, &c. They were created with peculiar solemnities, such as vigils and bathing, whence the name is derived.* The first express mention of them as a distinct order is commonly attributed to the beginning of the reign of Henry IV., he having previously to his coronation made forty-six at the Tower. But this is a vulgar error; for we find that in 1127, Henry I. made Geoffrey of Anjou and five others of like quality, Knights of the Bath on the occasion of the marriage of the Princess Maude, and no doubt they existed long antecedently. The last Knights of the Bath, according to the proper mode, were made by King Charles II. at his coronation, when sixty-eight were inaugurated.

4. KNIGHTS (Equites Aurati).—This class of ancient chivalrous honour differed from Knights of the Bath only in this respect, that they were not created at the special solemnities above referred to. We find, however, historical notices of public occasions at which Knights were created in great numbers, and with particular ceremonies of much splendour. Such was that in the year 1306, when (as Matthew of Westminster records) Edward I. by proclamation invited all who were privileged to receive the honour of Knighthood, "successione paterna," to present themselves for that honour. In consequence of this, three hundred youths, the sons of Earls, Barons, and Knights, presented themselves at Court, and with Knighthood had distributed amongst them "purpura, byssus, syndones, cyclades, auro textæ effluentissime." William of Malmesbury mentions the ceremonies which took place when Alfred the Great knighted his grandson Athelstan; and to go some centuries further back, Segar recounts those which were observed at the creation of a Knight in England so early as the year 506. Equites Aurati were so called from the golden ornaments which they wore, and the circumstance that they always served on horseback.

* The design of the State Order of the Bath, as set forth in our old records, was, "For the exaltation of the holy Christian religion, the support of the rights of our sovereigns, the defence of these realms, the advancement of justice, the protection of virgins, widows, and orphans, the relief of the oppressed, and for demonstrating the affection of our monarchs towards the estate of chivalry." This comprehends the objects for which all chivalrous honours were conferred in the olden times.

Of the very elevated position of this class of Knights—which comprehended the great body of the chivalry of the kingdom—it is unnecessary to speak. It conferred dignity upon royalty itself; and such was its estimation in former times, that the king's sons were not permitted to eat at the royal table until they were knighted.

Each of the knightly classes above enumerated had robes and other habiliments peculiar to their estate; and their decorations, personal and heraldic, including the collar of SS., the belt of honour, &c., were of the most brilliant and distinctive description. Their habits were enriched with gold and precious stones, as appears from the description given by Claudian—

Quin et Sidonias chlamydes et cingula baccis
Aspera, gemmatasque togas, &c.

They had also ascribed to them such honorary styles as "Most Noble," "Very Noble," "Right Noble," “Truly Noble,” &c. Under the feudal times Knights wore tymbered helmets, caps of dignity, and circles of gold, which latter were then equivalent to coronets.

By the Royal Ordinances of 10th & 14th James I., all Baronets and their Eldest Sons, being of age, are privileged to present themselves to the sovereign for the dignity of Eques Auratus, or Ordo Equestris, as it is also called in ancient patents. And amongst the Lesser Nobility, or Gentry, of the United Kingdom, there are several thousand families of equestrian quality entitled to receive this distinguished species of Knighthood in virtue of their feudal tenures.

The title “SIR,” which in all writings or speaking is to be prefixed to the Christian name of Knights as a legal addition, is derived from Cyr, Kyp, the abbreviation of the Greek word Kύριος, signifying Lord; as a titular distinction it denotes high honour, and is of great antiquity. The word was much used by the Greek Emperors. The ancient Barons in France affected rather to be styled Sire than Baron; and this form of the title is now exclusively attributed to our kings. Schir, and Schire, are also ancient modes of spelling the title.

KNIGHTS BACHELORS (Milites Bachillarii).—The persons who have received this ancient knightly distinction are the last branch or class of our ancient state Knighthood. Originally, Bachelors (who are styled in Latin Milites Bachillarii) were a degree quite distinct from Knights (Equites Aurati). This might be established by many extracts from ancient records; but it is sufficient to instance the Royal Precepts or Warrants for creating Baronets of Scotland, each of which declares that Baronets shall have precedence above all Free Barons, “all Equites Anratos, vulgo Knights, and all Milites Bachillarios, Auglice Bachelors.”

Some writers are of opinion that "Bachelor" denoted one that was in military action, and served as "Militaris Ordinis candidatus," but yet had not received the order of Knight. Others think that a Knight Bachelor was so called, because his Knighthood died with himself, not being heritable. Again, a third class consider them an inferior class of Chevaliers, as the derivation of the name Bas Chevalier implies. However this may be, Bachelors now are invariably considered as Knights Bachelors, and accordingly all of this degree take the distinctive title of Knighthood, viz., "Sir," which the companions of modern royal orders are not entitled to do.

The consideration of this ancient state dignity has been greatly impaired of late by the extension of the military Order of the Bath, and the fact that its chivalrous distinctions have been allowed to fall into desuetude.

In the year 1627, King Charles I. was moved that the Knights Bachelors might be allowed a distinctive riband and badge. The matter was referred to, and favourably reported upon by, the Heralds College, and the Attorney-General received a commandment from the king concerning it. From the troubles, however, which shortly afterwards arose in the kingdom, his Majesty's intention appears not to have been carried into effect. The want of an Order of Merit for the United Empire is strongly felt; and this ancient branch of our ancient state order of Knighthood ought to be remodelled and accommodated to that purpose.

Knights in ancient times were inaugurated with great solemnity. But the dignity of Knighthood is now received by the person kneeling before the sovereign, who, with a stroke of the sword over the right shoulder, pronounces these words:—Sois Chevalier, au nom de Dieu (Rise up, Knight, in the name of God), followed by Avance, Chevalier. At present, the command to rise is expressed in English, with the addition of the Christian name and surname of the new Knight.

Persons on being knighted with the ancient formalities came under a solemn oath to observe the rules of chivalry; and they had explained to them the force of the word Miles, as follows:—Magnanimus in adversitate. Ingenuus in consanguinitate. Largifluus in honestate. Gregius in curialitate. Strenuus in virili probitate.

All Knights Bachelors take rank among themselves according to the dates of their creations.

The Royal Orders of Knighthood are six:—1. The English order of the Garter; 2. The Scottish order of the Thistle; 3. The Irish order of St. Patrick; 4. The Military order of the Bath; 5. The order of the Star of India; 6. The Ionian order of St. Michael and St. George.

1. THE ORDER OF THE GARTER.—This illustrious order was instituted, according to the testimony of Camden, on the occasion of the battle of Cressy, when Edward ordered his garter to be displayed as a signal for the onset; in commemoration whereof (continues the same learned author) he made a garter the principal ornament of the order, created in memory of his signal victory, and a symbol of the indissoluble union of the Knights. A popular tradition prevails, but it is not supported by any ancient authority, that the order was instituted in honour of a garter of Joan, Countess of Salisbury, which her ladyship is stated to have dropped in dancing at a court ball, and which King Edward picked up, remarking in French to some courtiers, who smiled at the circumstance, “Honi soit qui mal y pense,” and adding, that shortly after they should see that garter advanced to so high an honour, that they would account themselves happy to wear it. Be the origin of its institution, however, what it may, no lay order in Europe is so ancient, none more illustrious. Emperors, kings, and princes have been enrolled as its companions; and warriors, statesmen, and patriots, the bravest, the ablest, and the purest, have been honoured with its insignia.*

2. THE ORDER OF THE THISTLE.—The Order of the Thistle of St. Andrew was instituted, according to John Lesley, Bishop of Ross, by Achaius, King of Scots, in commemoration of the appearance in the heavens of a bright cross, in the form of that whereon St. Andrew suffered martyrdom, seen by Achaius the night preceding the victory he achieved over Athelstan of England. It is further related that the Scottish king went, after the battle, to the kirk of St. Andrew in solemn procession, and returned thanks to God and his Apostle for the success of his arms, promising that he and his posterity should ever have the figure of that Cross in their banners.

Favin states that Achaius instituted the order in honour to the famous league concluded by him with Charlemagne; but the learned Nisbet, rejecting these traditional assertions, gives the year 1500 as the period of its institution. The sudden death of James V., and the troubles that overshadowed the reign of his successor, the unhappy Mary Stuart, nearly extinguished the Order, which continued neglected until restored by James VII., who, in 1687, issued his warrant for letters patent to be passed for “reviving and renewing the Order of the Thistle.” Thus reorganized, it continued to flourish during the remainder of his Majesty’s reign, but, with the accession of William and Mary, was again laid aside and again remained dormant until finally resuscitated in the reign of Queen Anne.*

3. THE ORDER OF ST. PATRICK.—The illustrious Order of St. Patrick was instituted by George III., February 5th, 1783, to consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and twenty-two Knights: the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland for the time being is Grand Master.*

4. THE ORDER OF THE BATH.—This Royal Military Order, which is generally confounded with the State Honour of the Bath, owes its origin, or rather its revival in its present form, to King George I. It was created by a Writ of Privy Seal, dated the 18th of May, 1725. The number of Knights was limited to thirty-eight, including the Sovereign. By the Statutes, they were allowed to carry supporters, and to have distinctive heraldic and personal decorations.

This Order was remodelled and greatly enlarged by his late Majesty, George IV., when Prince Regent. By statute, 2nd January, 1815, he ordained that “for the purpose of commemorating the auspicious termination of the long and arduous contest in which this empire had been engaged, the Order should be composed of three classes,” viz.:—

First Class—to consist of Knights Grand Crosses: the number not to exceed seventy-two, exclusive of the Sovereign and Princes of the blood royal; one-sixth of which may be appointed for civil and diplomatic purposes. The remainder must have attained the rank of Major-General in the army, or Rear-Admiral in the navy, and must have been previously appointed to the second class.

Second Class—Knights Commanders: the number not to exceed, upon the first institution, one hundred and eighty, exclusive of foreign officers holding British commissions, of whom not exceeding ten may be admitted as honorary Knights Commanders; in the event of actions of signal distinction, or of future wars, the number of this class may be increased. To be entitled to the distinctive appellation of Knighthood; to have the same rights and privileges as Knights Bachelors, but to take precedence of them; to wear the badge, &c., pendant by a red ribbon round the neck, the star embroidered on the left side.

Third Class—Companions of the Order, not limited in number; they are to take precedence of Esquires, but not entitled to the appellation, style, &c., of Knights Bachelors. To wear the badge assigned to the third class, pendant by a narrow red ribbon to the button-hole.

No officer can be nominated, unless he shall have received a medal, or other badge of honour, or shall have been specially mentioned in despatches in the "London Gazette," as having distinguished himself in action.*

5. ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.—This exalted Order was instituted by letters patent, dated 23rd February, 1861, to consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and twenty-five Knights. By letters patent, under the great seal of the United Kingdom, bearing date the 28th March, 1866, this Order was remodelled and enlarged to consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and 175 ordinary Companions or members, divided into three classes: the first class to consist of twenty-five members, to be styled Knights Grand Commanders of the said Order; the second to consist of fifty members, to be designated Knights Commanders; and the third class to consist of 100 members, to be styled Companions of the said order.†

* A list of the present Knights of this Order will be found at p. 143.

† A list of the present Knights of this Order will be found at p. 146.

6. THE ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.—This Order was instituted 27th April, 1818, by letters patent, under the great seal of Great Britain, for natives of the United States of the Ionian Islands, and of the Island of Malta and its Dependencies, and for such other subjects of his Majesty as may hold high and confidential situations in the Mediterranean, or in the employment of the Ionian States.

By statutes dated 16th August, 1832, the Order was made to consist of fifteen Knights Grand Cross, exclusive of the Grand Master (since altered to eight Knights Grand Cross, natives of the Ionian Islands or of Malta, together with British subjects who may be eligible under the present regulations), twenty Knights Commanders, and twenty-five Cavalieri or Companions. By a further extension of this Order in December, 1868, so as to render it available as a reward of distinguished merit to those who have done service to her Majesty in any of the British colonies, the number of Knights Grand Cross was enlarged to 25, of Knights Commanders to 60, and of Companions to 100. In May, 1877, the several classes of this Order were further enlarged, a step rendered necessary by the growth of the Colonial Empire. By the new statutes it was ordained that the number of Knights Grand Cross should be raised to 35, of Knights Commanders to 120, and of Companions to 200.

The members of the Order enjoy rank and precedence immediately after the corresponding classes of the Order of the Bath; that is to say, the Knights Grand Cross after Knights Grand Cross of the Bath, &c.*

7. THE IMPERIAL ORDER OF THE CROWN OF INDIA.—This Order was instituted January 1st, 1878, under the Royal Sign Manual, as an "Order

The number of which the Order consists is not limited. The following distinguished ladies are members of the Order :—

DREADNOUGHT SEAMEN'S HOSPITAL,

FREE TO SICK SEAMEN OF ALL NATIONS,

GREENWICH, S.E.

(Removed on Shore from the "Dreadnought," 1870.)

Patron—HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

Vice-Patron—H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

President—

REAR-ADMIRAL H.R.H. DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.

The Committee earnestly solicit the SUPPORT of the public on behalf of so interesting a Charity, where seamen of every nation are freely admitted without any recommendation but that which sickness or disease supplies; where they are allowed to remain in a state of convalescence, being clothed and assisted home in cases of destitution, and whence they are discharged not only cured of their bodily ailments, but, as it is hoped, better men, by the religious instruction and regular habits acquired during their stay in the Hospital. In confidence of being relieved, seamen travel from the most distant parts of the kingdom. Upwards of 200,000 seamen, of all nations, have been admitted to treatment since the Dreadnought Hospital was opened in the year 1821.

The Committee have the satisfaction to announce that the Queen is graciously pleased to subscribe 100 guineas annually, thus marking Her Majesty's sense of the value and importance of this universal and cosmopolitan charity.

The qualification of a Governor is an annual subscription of one guinea. Will any one refuse to give so small a sum to so universal a Charity?

Contributions will be gratefully received by the Bankers, Messrs. Williams, Deacon, & Co., 20, Birchin Lane, E.C., and at the Hospital by the Secretary, HENRY C. BURDETT.

FORM OF GIFT BY WILL OF LANDS, &c.

I give and devise to the SEAMEN'S HOSPITAL SOCIETY, Greenwich, all that, &c. [describing the lands, houses, rent, or other property], for the use of the said Society.

FORM OF BEQUEST OF MONEY, &c.

I bequeath to the SEAMEN'S HOSPITAL SOCIETY, Greenwich, the sum of £ , for the use of the said Society, to be paid free from Legacy Duty; and I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be sufficient discharge for the same.

GIFTS OF FRAMED PICTURES, OLD LINEN, CLOTHING, BOOKS, &c., WILL BE GRATEFULLY RECEIVED.

SPEAKER.

Rt. Hon. HENRY B. W. BRAND (co. Cambridge).

Elected February 8, 1872.

ABBREVIATIONS.—The marginal letters (O), (L), and (HR) denote respectively a Conservative, Liberal, and "Home Rule" Advocate.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

(Elected March, 1874.)

The Population and Electors for England and Wales are given according to the Parliamentary Return issued in 1873.

The line following the name of the constituency shows the number of votes polled by the candidate at the General Election, the unsuccessful candidates being printed in italics; where no return is given, there was no contest. The dates in brackets which follow the names of Members denote the year since which they have continued to represent their several present constituencies without interruption.

This Society, founded in 1838, seeks to reclaim Young Women from all parts of the Country, who have, by one false step, fallen from the path of virtue. They are cared for in their trouble if expecting to become mothers; and, after suitable training, are placed in service, where needful help is given them in supporting their infants, lest, through want, they should fall again. This is the more necessary from the extreme youth of many of the applicants which prevents their earning sufficient to maintain their infants.

SUBSCRIPTIONS and DONATIONS are earnestly SOLICITED.

The Medical Profession for over Forty Years have approved of this pure solution as the best remedy for

ACIDITY of the STOMACH, HEART-BURN, HEADACHE, GOUT, and INDIGESTION,

and as the safest Aperient for Delicate Constitutions, Ladies, Children and Infants.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.

LAMPLOUGH'S

EFFERVESCENT

PYRETTIC SALINE

Important to all, more especially English Ministers, British Consuls, and Europeans seeking to reside in safety in Tropical and Foreign Climates.

SICKNESS, HEADACHE, and NAUSEA are in most cases immediately relieved by taking a teaspoonful in a tumbler of cold water. This can be repeated once or twice in two hours, if needful.

SEA VOYAGES.—It is a very valuable accompaniment, and should on no account be omitted. It instantly allays the sea or bilious sickness.

For BILIOUS CONSTITUTIONS, giving rise to vitiated Secretions, Indigestion, and Eruptions on the Skin, a teaspoonful should be taken daily with the dinner in a tumbler of water, and the same quantity on going to bed.

It is found pre-eminentlly beneficial in preventing and curing Epidemic Small-pox, by Purifying, Invigorating, and Vitalising the Blood. Any person who has already this complaint should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features. (See the new directions for use.) May be obtained of the Proprietor,
